Rev. T. Phillips,
London, Sept. 26, 1867.

15th for the Institute Meeting - for which we shall have one of the old hearty, Anti-Slavery Men, Joseph Cooper, in the chair

As to Birmingham, you will be glad to hear that Bishop McIlvaine received me very kindly; and most cordially and frankly consented to come to the Meetings. We spoke of yourself, and of the Union Commission, and many related subjects. He is a fine man.

Dear Geo. Thompson, too, I have seen; and he is all right in relation thereto.

When we shall have things a little more forward here - I am going to Liverpool: perhaps To-morrow morning.

You shall have foreman as soon as may be - after they shall be out.

With very kind regards - in which friends cordially unite,

I am, ever truly,

Thos Phillips

Rev. T. Phillips

Dear Mr. Garrison,

Your many friends were grieved to see & your illness: and will be rejoiced to know that you shall have become thoroughly convalescent.

I have had very kind letters from Bradford, Leeds, &c. They will contrive to give to you as much rest and as little work as possible.

We shall do so likewise. I left London on Tuesday, sending vocal and written messages in succession as to the substance of your letter.

Have this morning received a note from one of our Honorary Secretaries — Mr John Taylor. He accepts the
